

College Prospect Network

Introducing a new type of scouting service that is free for all high school athletes and their coaches to join.

Coach,

I would like to join College Prospect Network, but I need your help. Please take a minute to answer two quick questions about me, so that CPN can finish reviewing my application.

It's quick, easy and free:

- Register at www.CollegeProspectNetwork.com as a coach at our school – multiple coaches can join from one school.
- The website will match you with me and any other applicants who go to our school and play the same sport. It only takes about three minutes to complete the entire process.
- You can also invite any other athletes who deserve to be recruited. Just log back onto the site after they have registered to verify the information they have entered.
- Be as involved as you'd like. You can monitor everything your athletes post or you can simply verify us and then trust us to be honest from there. (CPN staff will help monitor stats as much as possible.)
- You will receive an email alert any time a college program sends you a direct message about an athlete or requests additional game film so you don't have to check the site unless you get one of these alerts.
